EQUIPMENT

Rule of thumb equipment list is as follows; rifles and ammunition, binoculars, camera and charger, two pairs soft hunting pants (military green or dark khaki – these colours apply to all hunting clothes), two hunting shirts, one light hunting jacket or sweater, one down jacket for early morning travel in open vehicle, three pairs warm socks, one pair soft comfortable hunting shoes or boots, one pair camp shoes, one pair gloves and two casual wear shirts. Toiletries should include sun and windburn cream, malaria tablets, and a chap stick.

HEALTH

Although during the hunting season the chances of contracting malaria are very slim, we recommend that any prospective hunter consult their doctor about anti-malaria tablets before planning a safari. Most courses have to be started two weeks prior to arrival, and terminated at least six weeks after leaving. Our camps and vehicles all carry comprehensive medical boxes.

CLIMATE

Generally speaking, Southern Africa enjoys bright, sunny days and cool nights. The rainy season does not generally effect the hunting season but occasionally grey, wet days descend, only to depart as quickly as they came. The colder months are June/July when jackets are usually worn during early mornings and discarded a few hours after daybreak. The best months to hunt are April through to October.

CAMPS

Some of our camps are concrete/ cement chalets under thatched roofs, with hot and cold running water and flush toilets. They are clean, comfortable and fully furnished with electric lights and daily laundry service. Other camps are modelled on the traditional East African tented camps, again with hot and cold running water, flush toilets and electric lights.

While the operators will do their utmost to ensure against mishaps, losses etc we cannot be held responsible for any accidents, injury, illness or loss incurred during your safari. Any safari activity is potentially hazardous and it is essential that all lawful directions and advice of the safari operator or professional hunter be followed.
